

Planning Guide - Glass Minor (GLSS)

Offered by the School of Craft and Emerging Media

Available to all students except BFA Glass majors

The Glass Minor focuses on the use of glass as a sculptural material through studio-based inquiry. Courses within this Minor will introduce students to an array of techniques, approaches to material, and idea development strategies in support of their goals. Through open pathways in the progression of classes, students in this minor may choose to focus on materially oriented approaches such as kiln forming or hot glass, or they may opt to pursue independent trajectories within our classes in support of conceptually driven ends.

Upon the completion of this Minor, students can expect to have a grounding in glass-related technical information including safe use of the studio, studio tools & equipment. They will have gained experience with a number of approaches to glass and will have developed a material focus using glass. They will have developed artwork using glass and a conceptual framework that supports their artwork and interest in Glass as a sculptural material.
